SALESFORCE + YOUR TOOLS

What actually changes when you connect your tools.

Phone, ads, contracts, accounting, texting. Five connections that change results for wholesalers, and one deadline.

PHONE

1

Every call on the lead.

Calls, outcomes and recordings logged automatically. RingCentral works on Professional; Aircall and Dialpad need Enterprise or Unlimited.

2

Google Ads learns which clicks became contracts.

Conversion Import for Salesforce sends “under contract” back to Google Ads, so bidding favors keywords that sign.

3

Contracts sent, signed and filed on the deal.

DocuSign templates fill from Salesforce fields; the signed copy comes back to the record.

ACCOUNTING

4

Fees you collected, not just fees you booked.

QuickBooks connectors like Breadwinner or DBSync invoice the assignment fee from the deal and sync paid status.

TEXTING

5

Register before you text.

App-to-person texts over 10DLC numbers in the US need a registered brand and campaign. Store consent and opt-outs on the lead.

THE DEADLINE

6

Open CTI ends Feb 28, 2028.

Salesforce says dialers built on it stop working after that date. Ask your dialer vendor what their plan is.

FIRST CHECK

Does your edition include API access?

Included in Enterprise and Unlimited, an add-on for Professional. Many connectors need it.
