SPREADSHEET OR CRM?

You need a CRM when a lead can be forgotten and nobody notices.

Deal count matters less than people, follow-up and lead source.

7 signs you've outgrown the sheet →

SIGN 1 OF 7

1

More than one person calls or texts sellers.

TRUE

NOT YET

SIGN 2 OF 7

2

Follow-ups depend on someone remembering.

TRUE

NOT YET

SIGN 3 OF 7

3

You can't say which list paid for your last deal.

TRUE

NOT YET

SIGN 4 OF 7

4

A missed call doesn't become a callback task.

TRUE

NOT YET

SIGN 5 OF 7

5

"Not right now" leads have no next date.

TRUE

NOT YET

SIGN 6 OF 7

6

Your buyers list is a text thread.

TRUE

NOT YET

SIGN 7 OF 7

7

Monday numbers take an hour by hand.

TRUE

NOT YET

TWO OR MORE TRUE?

The cheapest next step:

1. Write your stages on one page
2. Require lead source + next follow-up date
3. Trial a low-cost CRM for 2 weeks
4. Turn on: missed call = callback task

HOW MANY DID YOU CHECK?

Count them in the comments.

Full guide, including what a spreadsheet still does well:

amrmagdy.com/do-i-need-a-crm-wholesaling